POSITIONING INTERNAL AUDIT

ABOUT THE EVENT

"It's well and good to review what has been done in the past, but what are we saying about the future?" Certainly, that's a good message for auditors around the world to consider. "Are we able to change or are we stuck in our old ways?"

The world is entering the fourth industrial revolution where new technologies, digitalization, and artificial intelligence are dramatically changing the business landscape. The types, complexities, and inter-dependencies of risks associated with the fourth industrial revolution, and the speed at which they emerge are new. The pressures to evolve in order to create and deliver value are new. The strategies, practices, and technologies that organizations employ are new. All of which are compelling Internal Audit to adopt a new vision of its role and remit, to maintain its relevance in providing impactful assurance and advisory services to organizations. Failure to act will allow the risks that the organization faces to outpace Internal Audit's skills and capabilities.

This Conference is designed to position the Internal Auditors to a place where they are able to create and deliver new value to their stakeholders, just as the organization strives to do so for its constituents.

Event will tackle many issues including

- How to position internal audit for the future and how to ensure that the function continues to add value in the organization and remain relevant
- Better use of data analytics, as well as agile approaches to the way we do internal audit
- Developing a blueprint which aims to clarify the expectations of Internal Audit, codifying the most important components
- Adopting new tools and techniques and to develop capabilities needed to effectively respond to today's challenges
